(By Associated Press)
The eighth week of European war today found the belligerents—France and Britain against Germany—trying to break each other by blockade, propaganda and by diplomatic rather than by the weapons of warfare.
The guns, tanks, planes and masses of troops on the western front, where the French have withdrawn from virtually all positions on German soil were quiet except for scouting activity.
But the belligerents called on other potent weapons in a struggle to shatter enemy morale and win support of non-belligerent nations.

Russian Diplomats Busy
As a corollary to the war, Soviet Russia continued her diplomatic campaign for dominance in eastern Europe which already has brought Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania into her sphere of control.
A delegation from Finland returned to Moscow for more talks with the Kremlin on proposals which Russia has advanced to her northern neighbor.
A Russian military mission arrived in Lithuania and five Soviet warships anchored off Libau, one of three Latvian ports set aside for Russian naval use under the Soviet-Latvian mutual assistance pact.
Autumn floods strengthened the grip of the French positions on German territory, the heights south of Saarbrücken, important industrial city.
The Nazi party set out to strengthen morale on the home front now that Germany considers the "first phase" of the war ended with the conquest of Poland and the "freezing" of western front lines.

Primary Achievement
Britain counted the allied mutual assistance pact with Turkey as her primary achievement, and declared with pride that British warplanes had beaten off the first German aerial attack on a naval convoy Saturday.
Air raid warnings sounded anew on the Firth of Forth and in north-east England, but no air attacks materialized.
Domestic war problems—eventual defeat, rationing, perfection of defense precautions and other matters—occupied Britain.

In the near east, Japan looked toward bettering her relations with the United States after an outspoken speech by U. S. Ambassador Joseph C. Grew Thursday expressing American dissatisfaction with Japanese policy in China.

The Tokyo foreign office spokesman said that Foreign Minister Arita Kichisaburo Nomura was planning a series of talks with Grew on major problems affecting the two powers.

the death at East Liverpool of Lawrence Dock, 57, Liverpool coal miner, who died Sunday afternoon in City hospital there after being struck by a "hit and run" driver.
Walter Ludwig, a truck driver, was questioned by police after Dock was run down on Pennsylvania ave., in East Liverpool, at 2:10 a. m. Sunday and admitted, police said, that he was the driver of the machine which hit Dock.

Ludwig was placed in the custody of Coroner Arnold Devon, who indicated criminal charges would be filed after he conferred with Assistant Prosecutor Louis Tobin at Lisbon.

A broken glass from a headlight and a recovered end gate from the truck led to Ludwig's arrest, police disclosed.
Three traffic mishaps in the Salem district were investigated over the weekend by state highway patrolmen. Two persons were injured.

Juanita Shasteen, 11, of R. D. 1, Leetonia, was treated at the Central Clinic for face lacerations suffered when the automobile in which she was riding with her father, Donald Shasteen, 40, struck a tree on the Franklin rd., near Grandview, at 5:30 p. m. Sunday.

Hours And Wages Revised For Interstate Industries

Second Phase of Federal Law Increases Minimum Pay and Shortens Maximum Work Week

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The second phase of the wage-hour law, effective Tuesday, increases the minimum wage and shortens the maximum work-week for workers in interstate industries. Some pertinent aspects of the changes are illustrated by these questions and answers:

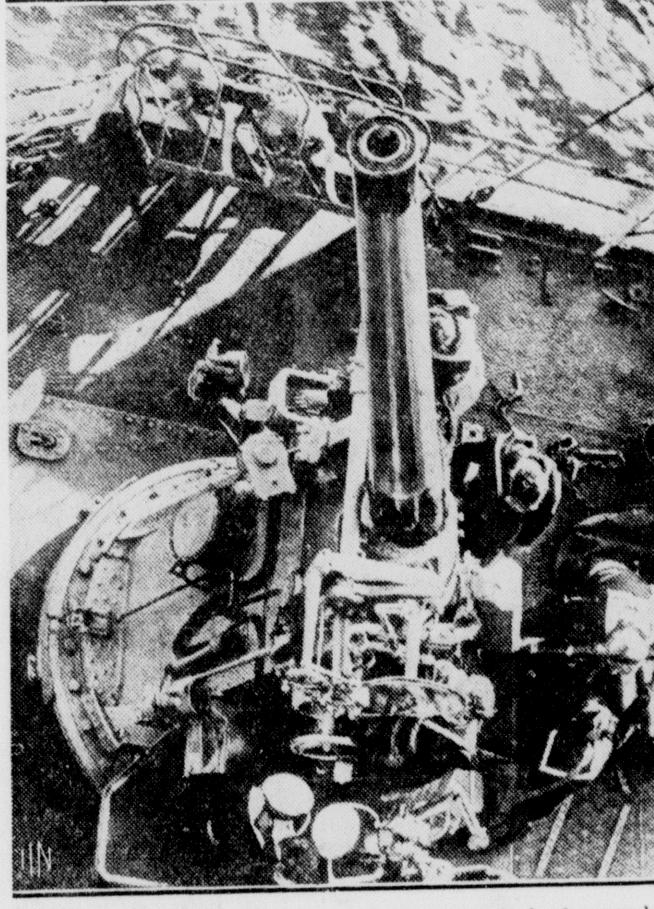

Q. What is the wage-hour law?
A. It is a federal statute which regulates certain labor standards in industries doing business in interstate commerce by requiring payment of a minimum wage and time and a half for work done in excess of a maximum work week.

Q. What change in these labor standards does the act require at this time?
A. Effective Oct. 24, all employers subject to the act are required to pay an hourly wage of at least 40 cents instead of 24 cents, for a maximum work week of 42 hours, instead of 44 hours, with time and a half for overtime. The act provides for certain exemptions from the wage requirement, as in the cases of learners or handicapped workers.

Q. How many workers will be affected by the change?
A. Government statisticians estimated that 690,000 workers who have been getting less than 30 cents an hour will receive higher pay, and that the work week will be shortened for 2,383,500 workers unless they are given overtime pay for work in excess of 42 hours.

Q. How much will workers' pay envelopes be increased?
A. Workers receiving only the

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Earl Browder, secretary of the Communist party in the United States, was indicted by a federal grand jury today on a charge of false application for a passport.

Browder was taken into custody immediately and arraigned before Federal Judge William Bondy. He pleaded innocent and was held in $10,000 bail. No date was set for a hearing.

The true bill was returned to Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey, who immediately recessed the grand jury for two hours.

Used Fictitious Name
The Communist leader testified Sept. 6 before the Dies committee investigating un-American activities that he had traveled in Europe within the last two years on a passport bearing a fictitious name.

At the same time of his appearance he declined to disclose the name he had used, standing on his constitutional right that such testimony might incriminate him.

He also testified other party members had traveled in Europe under fictitious passports because of the danger of using their real names since they were acknowledged Communists.

The indictment returned today contained two counts, each charging false application for a passport and the use of such passport.

Hours And Wages Revised
For Interstate IndustriesSecond Phase of Federal Law Increases Minimum
Pay and Shortens Maximum Work Week

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 — The second phase of the wage-hour law, effective Tuesday, increases the minimum wage and shortens the maximum work-week for workers in interstate industries. Some pertinent aspects of the changes are illustrated by these questions and answers:

Q. What is the wage-hour law?

A. It is a federal statute which regulates certain labor standards in industries doing business in interstate commerce by requiring payment of a minimum wage and time and a half for work done in excess of a maximum work week.

Q. What change in these labor standards does the act require at this time?

A. Effective Oct. 24, all employers subject to the act are required to pay an hourly wage of at least 40 cents instead of 34 cents, for a maximum work week of 42 hours, instead of 44 hours, with time and a half for overtime. The act provides for certain exemptions from the wage requirement, as in the cases of learners or handicapped workers.

Q. How many workers will be affected by the change?

A. Government statisticians estimated that 690,000 workers who have been getting less than 30 cents an hour will receive higher pay, and that the work week will be shortened for 2,383,500 workers unless they are given overtime pay for work in excess of 42 hours.

Q. How much will workers' pay envelopes be increased?

A. Workers receiving only the minimum pay for a maximum work week will have their pay increased from $11 to $12.60, plus any overtime which they earn.

Q. Must employees now receiving 30 cents an hour be given a wage increase to maintain the differential between their pay and the wages of the 25-cent-an-hour employees who are being moved up to 30 cents?

A. No. The law does not require an employer to maintain or adjust such differentials. It merely establishes certain minimum wage standards below which he cannot go without incurring penalties.

Q. Are piece workers entitled to overtime pay under the 30 cents an hour minimum as they were under the 25-cent minimum?

A. Yes. The law requires an employer to pay piece-rate workers the statutory minimum wage and overtime pay figured on the basis of one and a half times the worker's computed hourly average.

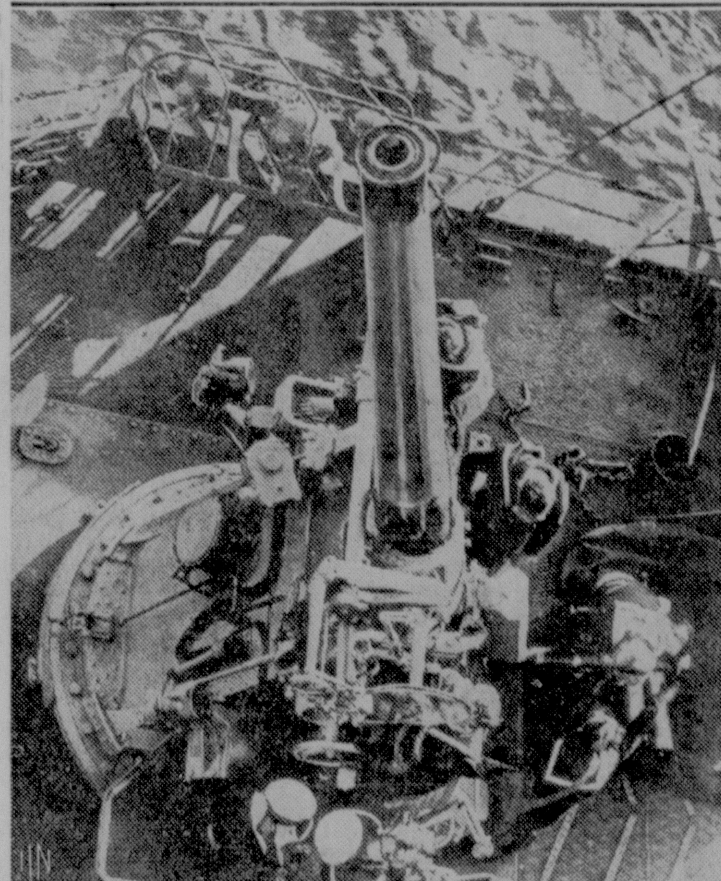

Q. Does the change from 44 to 42 hours a week affect the exemption granted seasonal industries?

A. No. The shorter work week has no effect on seasonal industries given authority to work employees as much as 12 hours a day and 56 hours a week for a maximum period of 14 weeks a year.

Q. Are sales clerks in retail stores and waitresses in restaurants entitled to overtime pay for work done in excess of the 32-hour week?

A. Not under the federal law. Workers in retail and service establishments are not covered by the wage-hour law.

German Bombers: Beware!

A dive bomber would never come so close to the deck of a warship to see the detail of a gun like this, but if it did this is how one of the anti-aircraft guns on the British cruiser Revenge would look. German bombers have tried conclusions with British warships on several occasions, but so far the plane-warship controversy still remains unsettled.

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Earl Browder, secretary of the Communist party in the United States, was indicted by a federal grand jury today on a charge of false application for a passport.

Browder was taken into custody immediately and arraigned before Federal Judge William Bondy. He pleaded innocent and was held in $10,000 bail. No date was set for a hearing.

The true bill was returned to Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey, who immediately recessed the grand jury for two hours.

Used Fictitious Name

The Communist leader testified Sept. 6 before the district committee investigating un-American activities that he had traveled in Europe within the last two years on a passport bearing a fictitious name.

At the same time of his appearance he declined to disclose the name he had used, standing on his constitutional right that such testimony might incriminate him.

He also testified other party members had traveled in Europe under fictitious passports because of the danger of using their real names since they were acknowledged Communists.

The indictment returned today contained two counts, each charging false application for a passport and the use of such passport.

BANKING HOURS

As banks of Salem inaugurate the 2 o'clock closing hour today, the officials and employees are likely to be subjected to some good-natured ribbing about the short hours they work. For many years, perhaps ever since the early days of banking in this country, the term "bankers' hours" has been used as an expression to denote easy employment or a short workday.

The expression refers to the number of hours banks are open to the public. As far as having any reference to hours of employment is concerned, it is a misnomer. Bank employees, from the president down, put in long hours; at least they work as long, if not longer, than office employees in other types of business. The day is not over for them when the doors close to the public. Everything must balance to the penny before they can leave. Today's work must be completed today, no matter how long it takes.

Closing the doors at 2 o'clock in the afternoon does not mean less work for clerks, tellers, cashiers, et al. However, it does permit them to start their check-up an hour earlier and thus complete their work within the workday hours prescribed by federal law. The move was made necessary by the change in the federal law, effective tomorrow, specifying a 42-hour work week. Bank employees could not check out each day's business within that time limit if the doors were open for business an hour later as in the past.

WHEN IN DOUBT MAKE A TREATY

Solemnly, the descendants of shrewd Yankee traders et cetera watch the old world make treaties and break them with fine impartiality. The single vital fact about treaties is that they aren't worth a hoot without mutual consent.

They are the children of suspicion. Governments that trust each other don't need to make treaties. Their purpose is solely to put the other party in a hole when and if he decides to employ diplomacy's most popular instrument, the double cross.

Everything that's wrong in Europe today has been theoretically prevented by one treaty or another. Moving backward into history one finds that few things ever did happen in Europe without a treaty to keep them from happening. With rare exceptions, the record of European treaties is the record of international backsliding, bad faith and callous deceit.

Hope springs eternal, but this seems a good time to remember that no treaty made in 1939 has a better chance to survive without repudiation than any treaty made in 1938, 1937, 1936, 1935 or so on ad infinitum. This goes double for treaties between Russia and Germany and at least once and a half for treaties between Great Britain and Turkey.

HUSKING

The two city-broke farm boys grinned when they saw a farmer husking corn out of the shock. It had been 40 years since they husked corn. "I've a notion to stop and try my hand at it again," said one, but didn't. "Yep," said the other sadly. "It was great fun—husking corn."

It's better organized fun now. Next month the national husking contest will be held in Kansas City. All over the country preliminary matches are being run off to select state championship caliber. A good husker these days is as precious as a shortstop who can hit over 300.

He's a specialist at ripping his way through standing corn (all bona fide contests are in standing corn). He has mastered the Overhand Pounce, the Slash-and-Toss, the Nebraska Rip, or the Now-You-See-It-Now-You-Don't technique.

He goes into training and is expected to show a flash of temperament now and then. He knows how to pose for the photographers and understands the importance of a good interview. Politicians value his friendship, and manufacturers put a price on his endorsement. Incidentally, he husks a lot of corn, which probably is the motive back of the whole thing.

TEN YEARS' PERSPECTIVE

Market speculators and the economists they consult for favorable omens are holding their annual wake commemorating the momentous crash of 1929. The climax occurred Oct. 24, but had been preceded by a long spell of strange behavior.

The magnitude of what happened is made visual in graphs of stock averages for the last 10 or 12 years. The slump is represented by an almost perpendicular drop more than twice the length of any other in the graph. There's a lot to be said for graphs, by the way.

They illustrate a law of physics that economists and politicians forget and speculators wilfully ignore. What goes up must come down. This is combined with a law of human behavior that what goes down must come up, unless it's inanimate.

Whatever professional soothsayers may have to say on the sad occasion of the 10th anniversary of the big bust, a decade of perspective makes it reasonably plain to less occult economists that the big mistake of 1929 was not repealing the law of gravity before defying it.

TURNING THE TABLES

Word has been passed along that this is Better Parenthood week—all week. When the news comes to the ears of children, and it certainly should, there'll be the dickens to pay.

Spies who circulate in the realm of childhood report much thought is being given there to the matter of better parenthood. It seems the ordinary run of parenthood leaves a good deal to be desired.

Parents try hard, but frequently defeat their own purposes by putting all responsibility for improvement on their offspring. Better childhood is overstressed, the children think.

The enlightened way of looking at it is that if there were better parenthood there would be better childhood—just like that. It's something to think about, something for parents to think about.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, October 24

According to the lunar transits, this should be a particularly lively and thrilling day, with much stirring in business, intellectual pursuits and in the social and affectional life. There may be surprises or suddenly precipitated events to make this a romantic and memorable time, but there are indications of running counter to the desires and objectives of superiors or employers.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a lively, progressive and eventful year, with much thrilling adventure in the private as well as the cultural life. All pertaining to art and writings should flourish, and affectional relations may prove of dramatic interest because of sudden and unpredictable developments. There is hint of opposition from elders, superiors or employers.

A child born on this day may be creative, versatile and original in all artistic, cultural and intellectual expressions, with much inspiration and intuition being reflected in its work.

A liberal collection would be taken if it was to be used to send Bund Leader Kuhn back to Nazi-land.

If the Berlin-Rome axis is still in existence, it isn't functioning so that any one can notice it in particular.

Evidently the Turkish foreign minister talked turkey to Comrade Stalin—but not the Thanksgiving kind.

Up to the hour of going to press today, we haven't seen a self-made man who didn't need a lot of alterations.

The headlines say: "Furor is Raised in Britain." It was raised by the Fuehrer who was raised in Austria.

Then another thing we've been wondering about is if this is "some of the time" when all the people are being fooled.

It is understood that Gabby Hartnett and Phil Wrigley have made up. Phil doubtless found it easy to forgive his manager for not getting the Cubs into a series with the Yanks.

Massage Is Of Much Value
In The Treatment Of Feet

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.
EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clending today inaugurates a new policy in his column. So that he will be able to answer more of the many medical questions sent him by readers, he will occasionally devote his entire column to a discussion of these problems.

FOOT MASSAGE

DO THE machines to manipulate feet do any good?

Certainly. Massage is a well-established principle of medical treatment. When I was at the San Francisco Fair recently I thought one day my feet were going to drop off from sheer fatigue. I stopped at one of those machines put my feet on a platform and a dime in the slot and got such a shaking as I haven't had in years. Afterwards I felt as spry as a ten-year-old.

Concerning the foot doctor in Canada who treats all ailments by simple momentary manipulation of the feet, an orthopedic friend of mine heard so much about him that he decided to go to consult him in person. When he left home he was scornful. He returned, if not completely converted, at least partially convinced. He was taken into another orthopedic surgeon's office and said he would show him what the doctor did.

"Take off your shoes", he instructed.

"But there is nothing the matter with my feet."

"That's what you think!" He grasped a foot in both hands—he had been an intercollegiate wrestling champion—and moved it violently in all directions. It hurt, but the strange part was that although the doctor had not previously been conscious of any dissatisfaction with his feet, they felt better for at least five minutes.

TREATMENT OF BURNS

Is tannic acid treatment recommended for burns and why?

Yes, in certain types of burns compound solution of tannic acid is very valuable, and the treatment of choice. Prior to the introduction of this treatment, in 1923, burns involving more than one-third of the body surface were invariably fatal. With tannic acid treatment lives are saved with burns involving half the body surface. To explain the nothing less than marvelous lifesaving qualities of tannic acid treatment, recourse must be had to the concept of "white bleeding"—the loss of an excessive amount of serum from the circulating blood into the exudate of the burn. It has been found that plasma may be lost to the extent of 60 per cent of that normally in the body. The tannic acid "seals" the burned area and prevents this loss. A five per cent solution of tannic acid in physiologic salt solution, or Ringer's solution, is sprayed on the burned area with an atomizer.

Motorists Fined
On Traffic Counts

Two motorists, arrested by police on charges of driving while intoxicated, drew fines of $100 and costs, in addition to 30-day jail sentences, when they appeared before Mayor George Harhoff this morning.

Police said Lowry was "zig-zagging" on the street and almost hit three parked cars.

A FAMILIAR SYMBOL TODAY

● A rough design, drawn on a scratch-pad 50 years ago, was the start of one of the world's best known business symbols—the Bell Telephone System's "Blue Bell."

In those days, long distance calls were made from special telephones. Many of the instruments used for local service were not adequate for long distance calls. A symbol was needed to distinguish the long distance telephones. It came to life on the scratch-pad of Angus S. Hibbard, General Superintendent of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Improvements in telephone service brought about changes in the emblem, so that now it is symbolic of both local and long distance telephone service. It is universally recognized as an emblem of dependable service courteously furnished at low cost.

BANKING HOURS

As banks of Salem inaugurate the 2 o'clock closing hour today, the officials and employees are likely to be subjected to some good-natured ribbing about the short hours they work. For many years, perhaps ever since the early days of banking in this country, the term "bankers' hours" has been used as an expression to denote easy employment or a short work-day.

The expression refers to the number of hours banks are open to the public. As far as having any reference to hours of employment is concerned, it is a misnomer. Bank employees, from the president down, put in long hours; at least they work as long, if not longer, than office employees in other types of business. The day is not over for them when the doors close to the public. Everything must balance to the penny before they can leave. Today's work must be completed today, no matter how long it takes.

Closing the doors at 2 o'clock in the afternoon does not mean less work for clerks, tellers, cashiers, et al. However, it does permit them to start their check-up an hour earlier and thus complete their work within the workday hours prescribed by federal law. The move was made necessary by the change in the federal law, effective tomorrow, specifying a 42-hour work week. Bank employees could not check out each day's business within that time limit if the doors were open for business an hour later as in the past.

WHEN IN DOUBT MAKE A TREATY

Solemnly, the descendants of shrewd Yankee traders et cetera watch the old world make treaties and break them with fine impartiality. The single vital fact about treaties is that they aren't worth a hoot without mutual consent.

They are the children of suspicion. Governments that trust each other don't need to make treaties. Their purpose is solely to put the other party in a hole when and if he decides to employ diplomacy's most popular instrument, the double cross.

Everything that's wrong in Europe today has been theoretically prevented by one treaty or another. Moving backward into history one finds that few things ever did happen in Europe without a treaty to keep them from happening. With rare exceptions, the record of European treaties is the record of international backsliding, bad faith and callous deceit.

Hope springs eternal, but this seems a good time to remember that no treaty made in 1939 has a better chance to survive without repudiation than any treaty made in 1938, 1937, 1936, 1935 or so on ad infinitum. This goes double for treaties between Russia and Germany and at least once and a half for treaties between Great Britain and Turkey.

The two city-broke farm boys grinned when they saw a farmer husking corn out of the shock. It had been 40 years since they husked corn. "I've a notion to stop and try my hand at it again," said one, but didn't. "Yep," said the other sadly, "it was great fun—husking corn."

It's better organized fun now. Next month the national husking contest will be held in Kansas City. All over the country preliminary matches are being run off to select state championship caliber. A good husker these days is as precious as a shortstop who can hit over 300.

He's a specialist at ripping his way through standing corn (all bona fide contests are in standing corn). He has mastered the Overhand Pounce, the Slash-and-Toss, the Nebraska Rip, or the Now-You-See-It-Now-You-Don't technique.

He goes into training and is expected to show a flash of temperament now and then. He knows how to pose for the photographers and understands the importance of a good interview. Politicians value his friendship, and manufacturers put a price on his endorsement. Incidentally, he husks a lot of corn, which probably is the motive back of the whole thing.

TEN YEARS' PERSPECTIVE

Market speculators and the economists they consult for favorable omens are holding their annual wake commemorating the momentous crash of 1929. The climax occurred Oct. 24, but had been preceded by a long spell of strange behavior.

The magnitude of what happened is made visual in graphs of stock averages for the last 10 or 12 years. The slump is represented by an almost perpendicular drop more than twice the length of any other in the graph. There's a lot to be said for graphs, by the way.

They illustrate a law of physics that economists and politicians forget and speculators wilfully ignore. What goes up must come down. This is combined with a law of human behavior that what goes down must come up, unless it's inanimate.

Whatever professional soothsayers may have to say on the sad occasion of the 10th anniversary of the big bust, a decade of perspective makes it reasonably plain to less occult economists that the big mistake of 1929 was not repealing the law of gravity before defying it.

TURNING THE TABLES

Word has been passed along that this is Better Parenthood week—all week. When the news comes to the ears of children, and it certainly should, there'll be the dickens to pay.

Spies who circulate in the realm of childhood report much thought is being given there to the matter of better parenthood. It seems the ordinary run of parenthood leaves a good deal to be desired.

Parents try hard, but frequently defeat their own purposes by putting all responsibility for improvement on their offspring. Better childhood is overstressed, the children think.

The enlightened way of looking at it is that if there were better parenthood there would be better childhood—just like that. It's something to think about, something for parents to think about.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, October 24

According to the lunar transits, this should be a particularly lively and thrilling day, with much stirring in business, intellectual pursuits and in the social and affectional life. There may be surprises or suddenly precipitated events to make this a romantic and memorable time, but there are indications of running counter to the desires and objectives of superiors or employers.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a lively, progressive and eventful year, with much thrilling adventure in the private as well as the cultural life. All pertaining to art and writings should flourish, and affectional relations may prove of dramatic interest because of sudden and unpredictable developments. There is hint of opposition from elders, superiors or employers.

A child born on this day may be creative, versatile and original in all artistic, cultural and intellectual expressions, with much inspiration and intuition being reflected in its work.

A liberal collection would be taken if it was to be used to send Bund Leader Kuhn back to Nazi-land.

If the Berlin-Rome axis is still in existence, it isn't functioning so that any one can notice it in particular.

Evidently the Turkish foreign minister talked turkey to Comrade Stalin—but not the Thanksgiving kind.

Up to the hour of going to press today, we haven't seen a self-made man who didn't need a lot of alterations.

The headlines say: "Furor Is Raised in Britain." It was raised by the Fuehrer who was raised in Austria.

Then another thing we've been wondering about is if this is "some of the time" when all the people are being fooled.

It is understood that Gabby Hartnett and Phil Wrigley have made up. Phil doubtless found it easy to forgive his manager for not getting the Cubs into a series with the Yanks.

Massage Is Of Much Value In The Treatment Of Feet

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clending today inaugurates a new policy in his column. So that he will be able to answer more of the many medical questions sent him by readers, he will occasionally devote his entire column to a discussion of these problems.

FOOT MASSAGE

DO THE machines to manipulate feet do any good? Certainly. Massage is a well-established principle of medical treatment. When I was at the San Francisco Fair recently I thought one day my feet were going to drop off from sheer fatigue. I stopped at one of those machines, put my feet on a platform and a dime in the slot and got such a shaking as I haven't had in years. Afterwards I felt as spry as a ten-year-old.

Concerning the foot doctor in Canada who treats all ailments by simple momentary manipulation of the feet, an orthopedic friend of mine heard so much about him that he decided to go to consult him in cognito. When he left home he was scornful. He returned, if not completely converted, at least partially convinced. He was led into another orthopedic surgeon's office and said he would show him what the doctor did.

"Take off your shoes," he instructed.

"But there is nothing the matter with my feet."

"That's what you think." He grasped a foot in both hands—he had been an intercollegiate wrestling champion—and moved it violently in all directions. It hurt, but the strange part was that although the doctor had not previously been conscious of any dissatisfaction with his feet, they felt better for at least five minutes.

TREATMENT OF BURNS

Is tannic acid treatment recommended for burns and why?

Yes, in certain types of burns compound solution of tannic acid is very valuable, and the treatment of choice. Prior to the introduction of this treatment, in 1923, burns involving more than one-third of the body surface were invariably fatal. With tannic acid treatment lives are saved with burns involving half the body surface. To explain the nothing less than marvelous life-saving qualities of tannic acid treatment, recourse must be had to the concept of "white bleeding"—the loss of an excessive amount of serum from the circulating blood into the exudate of the burn. It has been found that plasma may be lost to the extent of 60 per cent of that normally in the body. The tannic acid "seals" the burned area and prevents this loss. A five per cent solution of tannic acid in physiological salt solution, or Ringer's solution, is sprayed on the burned area with an atomizer.

Police said Lowry was "zig-zagging" on the street and almost hit three parked cars.

THE OHIO BELL TELEPHONE CO.

"REDHEADS ARE LUCKY"

BY VERA BROWN

CHAPTER XXVI

"Come, Mike's voice was more natural than 'Don't stay too long. He gets tired very easily.' Then to Jimmie, 'Darling, he's here!'"

"Hansome!" Jimmie's feeble little voice rang out. "Gee, I thought you'd forgotten."

Mike slipped out of the room. She could not bear to stay. She told the nurse she would go across the street for some coffee.

"You look out for Mr. Regan. He won't stay long."

Jimmie and Handsome talked to her naturally. Handsome was happy because his coming had so greatly delighted the child. Jimmie asked him a lot of questions about the day's game. And when Handsome photographed the old baseball, he showed Jimmie just how he held it for his famous curves.

Outside the room, nurses and internes had gathered. Finally Jimmie's nurse said the visit must end. It was time Jimmie rested.

"Oh, Gee! Handsome, there's a lot of kids in the ward down the hall. Will you just step in there a minute and let 'em look at you?"

"If you only would, Mr. Regan. The boys would love it," the nurse urged.

Embarrassed, Handsome followed her as she made a triumphant march down the hall to the big ward. A couple of doctors joined the group.

"What shall I do?" Handsome asked in alarm. "This is a little out of my line."

"Just say hello to them, and tell them you're going to win another world's championship this year."

That is what Handsome did. Later there was a lot of fanfare about it in the newspapers, and a detailed account of Handsome's visit to little Jimmie.

Handsome was glad he went. When he came out of the ward he asked the nurse, "Where did Miss Shannon go?"

"She always eats at a little place just across the road. I have the telephone number, in case, she's wanted here."

"Is he that sick, nurse?"

"I'm afraid he is. Pneumonia and now complications. He hasn't much chance. He just lives for his sister's visits. It was kind of you to come."

"I'll come again, . . . and often."

Handsome promised. The children's devotion had touched him deeply. He hadn't realized that he might mean a lot to sick youngsters.

The spring twilight had gone when he came down the hospital steps. Handsome saw the little restaurant across the street. He was still smarting under the painful scene he'd had with Iris. As usual she'd picked him up at the stadium after the game.

Drive through the park and over on the east side, Iris. I want to drop off at the Children's Hospital and pay a little visit. Won't take me long."

"I'll do nothing of the sort. There's a cocktail party we must attend. Mazie Royce is giving it for you. You've got to go. I said you would."

"You know I hate such parties," she said. "But Mazie's important! She's in the Social Register."

"I don't care. She can wait. I promised I'd drop in to see a sick kid over there and I'm going to."

"Who'd you promise?" Iris pressed the point.

"Wish Malone."

"Wish is too nosy."

"He's one of the best friends I have."

"Why does he want you to see this child?"

Handsome was aroused. "Because this kid is going to die!"

"Then he's too sick for you to see him?" A sudden thought struck Iris. "What's his name?"

Handsome hesitated for an instant, but too long! "Jimmie."

"Jimmie Shannon?"

"I thought so!" Iris's voice rose in anger. "That dizzy little red-head is trying to get you back that's all. Well, you won't go, I tell you. You won't go!"

They stopped for another traffic light. Handsome stepped quickly out of the car, closed the door.

"Until you get better manners," was his parting shot. Then he climbed into a cab headed east.

Handsome thought of this incident as he walked across the street to the restaurant. He had to see Mike. As he entered, he saw her sitting at a back table, her head bent over a coffee cup. She did not see him as he came up to her with, "May I sit down, Skipper?"

Mike raised surprised eyes as Handsome greeted her in the little restaurant.

"Have you eaten yet?" he looked at her untouched coffee cup. She shook her head.

"The nurses tell me there isn't much hope."

"No," she answered. And then remarked, "It was kind of you to come, Jimmie keeps talking about you."

"Mind if I eat here?" Handsome tried to make his voice sound casual. He ordered hamburger steak.

"I autographed that baseball for Jimmie."

Handsome talked to her about the day's game. Just as he used to. He seemed the same, except that he wore a $150 suit. Mike was wan and disheveled. Her mahogany colored hair seemed to have lost a bit of its luster. Her face was drawn.

"I never should have left you." If he had struck Mike, she could not have been more shocked. Her struggle for composure was painful as Larry declared himself.

"Forgive me?" Handsome asked. He put his hand out and touched hers, the one that used to wear his ring. The waitress arrived with his order.

"I'm always starved after a game." Words he had said to her so many times.

"You shouldn't eat fried foods." The words came so naturally to Mike. Then her cheeks blazed. It was her old warning.

Mike watched Handsome eat in silence. She knew she should leave him there, but she could not. Suddenly he put down his fork. "Guess I'd better lay off the fried stuff," he decided. He paid both checks and they walked out into the spring night. It was cold, but the sky was clear, and a new moon was rising.

Mike spoke impulsively: "I always see the new moon over the wrong shoulder!"

Handsome laughed: "I have only one superstition. My lucky pennies. As long as I have them, I'm O. K." Mike started across the street to the hospital. Handsome put his hand on her arm.

"Walk down the street with me a little."

"I can't, Handsome. I must get back." Mike was careful to use the name his fans used. She knew the sound hurt him, and she was glad.

"I want to ask you something, Mike. Did Crisp or Wish ever pay you for being engaged to me?" he asked suddenly.

Mike turned her face toward Handsome. "They didn't have to pay me."

Handsome stumbled on, trying to justify himself. "I thought you didn't really love me. I thought it was just to pull me through that season." His voice was pleading.

"I know," Mike was thinking again of that night when Wish told her Handsome was married to Iris.

"Let's go back, Handsome. There isn't any use."

He turned to her bidding. "No, I suppose not." They were silent again. At the hospital steps, Handsome took one of Mike's hands and raised it to his lips. "We part friends?"

"Yes, Handsome, friends."

The famous pitcher stood there with his hat off watching until her slim figure disappeared into the reception room of the big hospital.

Three days later when Mike came from work to the hospital, Jimmie lay in a coma. Twenty-four hours later, he died in his sleep. Mike had been prepared for Jimmie's death for weeks. But when the blow fell, it hit her hard. The nurses were kindness itself. They took her into a little private waiting room and talked to her quietly.

"I must go home. I must tell mother."

The night superintendent came out of his office with, "Miss Shannon, I thought you might be worrying about the bill here. Just don't think of it."

"Thank you," Mike hardly heard him. "What must I do?" She turned to the man appealingly.

"There are certain plans which must be made. Now, if you'll allow me to call a number. I can arrange everything."

Mike was too dazed to wonder at the night superintendent's interest in her troubles. She did not know that every night since Handsome's visit, he had telephoned the night superintendent, asked that he be notified if there was any change.

The doctor persuaded Mike to sit down for a little. He put the call through in the adjoining office. Ten minutes later, Handsome was talking to Mr. Jenkins, at the Eureka hotel. That call was the beginning of another rousing row with Iris.

Mike left the hospital and took the subway home. She did not have money enough for cab fare. The ride seemed endless. She dreaded facing her mother. In the apartment the family was waiting for her. Even before Mike spoke, they knew. Her face told them.

"It's over," she said.

And it was her mother who was the strong one then, comforting the forlorn girl. When the younger children were in bed, Mike, her mother, and father settled down to talk ways and means. They must get at least a couple of hundred dollars from some place. Mike thought she might be able to borrow it from the hotel. It was while they were discussing their problems that the doorbell rang. It was a messenger with a letter for Mike. When she opened it, a check fell out. It was made out to Mike. It was for $400.

"Mother!" Mike pulled the little note out. It was on Eureka Hotel stationery.

"I just heard about Jimmie and

It never occurred to Mike to wonder how Jenkins had found out about Jimmie's death. That, and the yellow roses which came with Handsome's card the next day, comforted Mike. Wish came to see her, too, to offer help. Mike realized indeed what friends mean.

Later, Mike packed up Jimmie's toys, his books, his clothing. She sent them to the charity hospital. Jimmie would have liked that. But the baseball, Mike kept. She put it away beside the box which held her diamond ring.

"REDHEADS ARE LUCKY"

BY VERA BROWN

CHAPTER XXVI

"Come, Mike's voice was more natural now. 'Don't stay too long. He gets tired very easily.' Then to Jimmie, 'Darling, he's here!'"

"Handsome!" Jimmie's feeble little voice rang out. "Gee, I thought you'd forgotten!"

Mike slipped out of the room. She could not bear to stay. She told the nurse she would go across the street for some coffee.

"You look out for Mr. Regan. He won't stay long."

Jimmie and Handsome talked together naturally. Handsome was happy because his coming had so obviously delighted the child. Jimmie asked him a lot of questions about the day's game. And when Handsome autographed the old baseball, he showed Jimmie just how he held it for his famous curves. Outside the room, nurses and in-laws had gathered. Finally Jimmie's nurse said the visit must end. It was time Jimmie rested.

"Oh, Gee! Handsome, there's a lot of kids in the ward down the hall. Will you just step in there a minute and let 'em look at you?"

"If you only would," Mr. Regan. The boys would love it," the nurse urged.

Embarrassed, Handsome followed her as she made a triumphant march down the hall to the big ward. A couple of doctors joined the group.

"What shall I do?" Handsome asked in alarm. "This is a little out of my line."

"Just say hello to them, and tell them you're going to win another world championship this year."

That is what Handsome did. Later there was a lot of fanfare about it in the newspapers, and a detailed account of Handsome's visit to little Jimmie.

Handsome was glad he went. When he came out of the ward he asked the nurse, "Where did Miss Shannon go?"

"She always eats at a little place just across the road. I have the telephone number, in case, she's wanted here."

"Is he that sick, nurse?"

"I'm afraid he is. Pneumonia and now complications. He hasn't much chance. He just lives for his sister's visits. It was kind of you to come."

"I'll come again.... and often," Handsome promised. The children's devotion had touched him deeply. He hadn't realized that he might mean a lot to sick youngsters.

The spring twilight had gone when he came down the hospital steps. Handsome saw the little restaurant across the street. He was still smarting under the painful scene he'd had with Iris. As usual she'd picked him up at the stadium after the game.

Drive through the park and over on the east side, Iris. I want to drop off at the Children's Hospital and pay a little visit. Won't take me long."

"I'll do nothing of the sort. There's a cocktail party we must attend. Mazie Royce is giving it for you. You've got to go. I said you would."

"You know I hate such parties," But Mazie's important! She's in the Social Register."

"I don't care. She can wait. I promised I'd drop in to see a sick kid over there and I'm going to."

"Who'd you promise?" Iris pressed the point.

"Wish Malone."

"Wish is too noisy."

"He's one of the best friends I have."

"Why does he want you to see this child?"

Handsome was aroused. "Because this kid is going to die!"

"Then he's too sick for you to see him?" A sudden thought struck Iris. "What's his name?"

Handsome hesitated for an instant, but too long! "Jimmie."

"Jimmie what?"

"Jimmie Shannon."

"I thought so!" Iris's voice rose in anger. "That dizzy little redhead is trying to get you back, that's all. Well, you won't go, I tell you. You won't go!"

They stopped for another traffic light. Handsome stepped quickly out of the car, closed the door, and walked across the street.

"Until you get better manners," was his parting shot. Then he climbed into a cab headed east.

Handsome thought of this incident as he walked across the street to the restaurant. He had to see Mike. As he entered, he saw her sitting at a back table, her head bent over a coffee cup. She did not see him as he came up to her with, "May I sit down, Skipper?"

Mike raised surprised eyes as Handsome greeted her in the little restaurant.

"Have you eaten yet?" he looked at her untouched coffee cup. She shook her head.

"The nurses tell me there isn't much hope."

"No," she answered. And then remarked, "It was kind of you to come. Jimmie keeps talking about you."

"Mind if I eat here?" Handsome tried to make his voice sound casual. He ordered hamburger steak.

"I autographed that baseball for Jimmie."

Handsome talked to her about the day's game. Just as he used to. He seemed the same, except that he wore a $150 suit. Mike was wan and disheveled. Her mahogany colored hair seemed to have lost a bit of its luster. Her face was drawn.

"I never should have left you." If he had struck Mike, she could not have been more shocked. Her struggle for composure was painful as Larry declared himself.

"Forgive me?" Handsome asked. He put his hand out and touched hers, the one that used to wear his ring. The waitress arrived with his order.

"I'm always starved after a game," Words he had said to her so many times.

"You shouldn't eat fried foods." The words came so naturally to Mike. Then her cheeks blazed. It was her old warning.

Mike watched Handsome eat in silence. She knew she should leave him there, but she could not. Suddenly she remembered the day when he put down his fork. "Guess I'd better lay off the fried stuff," he decided. He paid both checks and they walked out into the spring night. It was cold, but the sky was clear, and a new moon was rising. Mike spoke impulsively: "I always see the new moon over the wrong shoulder!"

Handsome laughed: "I have only one superstition. My lucky pennies. As long as I have them, I'm O. K." Mike started across the street to the hospital. Handsome put his hand on her arm.

"Walk down the street with me a little."

"I can't, Handsome. I must get back." Mike was careful to use the name his fans used. She knew the sound hurt him, and she was glad. Mike did not say anything. He asked suddenly, "I thought you were engaged to me?" he asked suddenly.

Mike turned her face toward Handsome: "They didn't have to pay me."

Handsome stumbled on, trying to justify himself. "I thought you didn't really love me. I thought it was just to pull me through that season." His voice was pleading.

"I know," Mike was thinking again of that night when Wish told her Handsome was married to Iris.

"Let's go back, Handsome. There isn't any use."

He turned to her bidding. "No, I suppose not." They were silent again. At the hospital steps, Handsome took one of Mike's hands and raised it to his lips. "We part friends?"

"Yes, Handsome, friends."

The famous pitcher stood there with his hat off watching until her slim figure disappeared into the reception room of the big hospital.

Three days later when Mike came from work to the hospital, Jimmie lay in a coma. Twenty-four hours later, he died in his sleep. Mike had been prepared for Jimmie's death for weeks. But when the blow fell, it hit her hard. The nurses were kindness itself. They took her into a little private waiting room and talked to her quietly.

"I must go home. I must tell mother."

The night superintendent came out of his office with, "Miss Shannon. I thought you might be worrying about the bill here. Just don't think of it."

"Thank you," Mike hardly heard him. "What must I do?" She turned to the man appealingly.

"There are certain plans which must be made. Now, if you'll allow me to call a number, I can arrange everything."

Mike was too dazed to wonder at the night superintendent's interest in her troubles. She did not know that every night since Handsome's visit, he had telephoned the night superintendent, asked that he be notified if there was any change.

The doctor persuaded Mike to sit down for a little. He put the call through in the adjoining office. Ten minutes later, Handsome was talking to Mr. Jenkins, at the Eureka hotel. That call was the beginning of another rousing row with Iris.

Mike left the hospital and took the subway home. She did not have money enough for cab fare. The ride seemed endless. She dreaded facing her mother. In the apartment the family was waiting for her. Even before Mike spoke, they knew. Her face told them.

"It's over," she said.

And it was her mother who was the strong one then, comforting the forlorn girl. When the younger children were in bed, Mike, her mother, and father settled down to talk ways and means. They must get at least a couple of hundred dollars from some place. Mike thought she might be able to borrow it from the hotel. It was while they were discussing their problems that the doorbell rang. It was a messenger with a letter for Mike.

When she opened it, a check fell out. It was made out to Mike. It was for $400.

"Mother!" Mike pulled the little note out. It was on Eureka Hotel stationery.

"I just heard about Jimmie and

It never occurred to Mike to wonder how Jenkins had found out about Jimmie's death. That, and the yellow roses which came with Handsome's card the next day, comforted Mike. Wish came to see her, too, to offer help. Mike realized indeed what friends mean.

Later, Mike packed up Jimmie's toys, his books, his clothing. She sent them to the charity hospital. Jimmie would have liked that. But the baseball, Mike kept. She put it away beside the box which held her diamond ring.

Explorer, sportsman, scientist, conservationist, author of the authoritative, new "A Book on Duck Shooting," Heilner knows the waterfowl flyways from California to Maine, Alaska to Mexico, and those of Europe too. "VAN" has been a Camel smoker for 18 years.

You can tell a lot about a cigarette by whether it burns fast or slowly. Camel cigarettes are noted for their long burning. In fact, they burned longer, slower than any other brand tested, in recent scientific studies. Van Campen Heilner, the famous American authority on wild game, points out an interesting angle to this. "Camels give more smoking because those choice tobaccos burn so slowly," he says. "And I think the way they burn is a very good way to judge the quality of cigarettes too. I notice this about Camels — I can smoke them steadily and they still taste smooth and cool, and my mouth feels fresh — and there's no throat irritation. Camels are mild, flavorful. They give more pleasure per puff — and more puffs per pack." Turn to Camels. Get extra smoking per pack — topped off with the delicate taste of choice quality tobaccos. For contentment — smoke Camels!

MORE PLEASURE PER PUFF . . . MORE PUFFS PER PACK!

Whatever price you pay per pack, it's important to remember this fact: By burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested — slower than any of them — CAMELS give a smoking plus equal to ou can tell a lot about a cigarette by whether it burns fast or slowly. Camel cigarettes are noted for their long burning. In fact, they burned longer, slower than any other brand tested, in recent scientific studies. Van Campen Heilner, the famous American authority on wild game, points out an interesting angle to this. "Camels give more smoking because those choice tobaccos burn so slowly," he says. "And I think the way they burn is a very good way to judge the quality of cigarettes too. I notice this about Camels—I can smoke them steadily and they still taste smooth and cool, and my mouth feels fresh—and there's no throat irritation. Camels are mild, flavorful. They give more pleasure per puff—and more puffs per pack." Turn to Camels. Get extra smoking per pack—topped off with the delicate taste of choice quality tobaccos. E.L. Grate Stresses Importance Of Correct Automobile Wheel Balance

URGES TEST AS ECONOMY STEP

Offers Free Demonstration To His Lubrication Customers

Do you want to save money on a smooth ride and avoid accidents? Then stop in at the E. L. Grate Motor Co. on Ellsworth ave. and let them show you just how important it is to have your wheels in perfect balance.

It may be all new to you. It is new to the entire automobile industry and brought about because of the four-wheel drive and balloon tires plus the speed in driving.

Tires Wearing Fast
If all your wheels haven't been balanced on a dynamic wheel balancer within the past few months, you are sure that your tires are wearing out too fast and that there is a slight shimmy and weave in your car.

The Dynamic Wheel Balancer that the E. L. Grate Motor Co. has just installed is the latest equipment known to the automobile industry. It's almost human, for it all but talks. The wheel is spun from speeds of one mile to as high as 100 miles per hour and an electric eye arrangement is set out of balance. By this method less weight is used to balance the wheel in perfect balance than in methods that were new only a very short time ago.

See It Yourself
For economy's sake, as well as safety, every motorist should see with his own eyes the machine in operation.

E. L. Grate is offering to demonstrate the balance of the wheels on any car that comes in to be completely lubricated or simply have the wheels packed. And all motorists know or should, that from wheel bearings should be oiled and repacked with the proper lubricant every 5,000 miles.

There will be no charge to show you the condition of the balance of your wheels if you have the front wheels repacked or a complete lubrication job.

GETTING RESULTS
Classified ads. are alert salesmen on duty every night. They get results.

Motorists Paying In Cash and Lives For Hard Steering

Excessive tire wear and hard steering are usually caused by nothing more than wrong tilt of the front axle or knees, says Matt Klein, local Bear System operator, with service garage at 813 Newgarden ave.

Most motorists do not realize the terrific price they pay, because of wheel misalignment or they would immediately go to a repair shop and have it corrected. The tires that go to the scrap heap every year because of pitting, scuffing, cupping and gouging of the tire, and the accidents that happen on the highway day after day, amount to a staggering total.

"Were the costs of motorists' pocketbooks the only consideration, the situation would be serious enough—but when life and limb are endangered, the problem takes on the respect of a serious national menace."

The hard steering and tire wear which are such a "bugbear" to motorists are not heard of before the advent of balloon tires and four-wheel brakes. And the reason is that the front axle is frequently twisted by brakes out of adjustment. A similar situation does not exist in the rear axle, because it is two parts, both acting on a differential. But, when front wheel brakes are jammed on suddenly the one which grips most, tends to twist that end of the axle forward. And, the misalignment which results shows up four times as much in scuffing to the tires, because balloons have four times as much area in contact with the road.

The whole subject of steering alignment is one which has engaged the attention of automobile engineers and designers ever since the coming into general use of four-wheel brakes and balloon tires. It is so complex that specially trained mechanics are needed to correct it. But, now with these available, hard steering and excessive tire wear are no longer a condition that must be tolerated.

DRIVING MADE SAFER BY NASH

Large, High-Powered Car Campaigns In Low-Price Field

Believing that a new era of highway adventure is about to get under way in America, Nash engineers packed the new 1940 Nashes with a score of adventure features that are said to make driving more fun, more comfortable and safer than ever before.

The automobile, already perfected as a transportation unit, has been developed this year beyond the purely functional stage and has become not only an important utility but a means to broader horizons for thousands of Americans. In the opinion of F. M. Woodworth of the Buckeye Motor Sales, 451 E. Pershing st.

The new 1940 Nash line of cars, possessing a smooth new "airliner" beauty, consists of 18 models in three series that cover a wide price range, beginning among the lowest in the industry, Woodworth said.

Nash, which broke many sales records during the 1939 model year when public acceptance for its cars increased rapidly, will make a drive in the low-price market this model year with an extra large and high powered car, he made known. Nash's low-priced automobile, the DeLuxe LaFayette, has 117-inch wheelbase, a 99-horsepower motor, and offers a number of driving and construction features generally found only on much higher priced cars, he said.

Steering Easier, Surer

Another development contributing to the "Arrow Flight Ride" is a new steering arrangement which is said to make steering easier and surer, and to hold the car to its course even on the roughest of roads. The steering gear also makes possible shorter turning radius. The cars can be turned completely in an average city street. This is also a parking advantage, as the cars can be maneuvered easily into close-quarter parking spots.

"There is another driving thrill in store for motorists," Woodworth said, "in the Nash 'Overtake'—an advancement of the automatic fourth speed forward. To use it, the driver presses the throttle to the floor and the pull power and pull of the engine in conventional third gear is at his command for passing cars and for getting out of tight spots. The return to the automatic fourth speed forward is made by lifting the foot from the accelerator for a split second."

This year the driving public actually will see the famous Nash "Weather Eye," the mysterious weather watcher which automatically prevents changes in outside weather from affecting inside car comfort.

PUBLIC LAUDS NEW DE SOTO '40

Features Formerly Extra Are Now Standard Equipment

With Detroit delivered prices reduced as much as $48 despite increased size, roominess, horsepower and wheelbase, De Soto's completely re-styled 1940 models will put in a strong bid for attention of automobile show crowds this week.

Extra Equipment
The new lower prices start at $245 for the deluxe coupe and range to $1,290 for the 7-passenger custom limousine, and these lower prices include many equipment items now furnished as standard, for which extra charge was previously made.

For instance, all De Sotos this year will include as standard equipment an 18-inch steering wheel with horn ring, dual sun visors, dual windshield wipers, dual tail lamps, assist straps, robe cord, chrome belt moulding, gravel deflector between rear bumper and bumper guards, spare tire tube and wheel and sheet metal painted to match body color.

Visitors to the Harris garage, 10-cent dealer will see evidence of a 12-million dollar beauty treatment for that is what Chrysler corporation reports having spent for new tools and dies for its 1940 models. They will also see 122½-inch wheelbases under a lower, sturdier frame; 166-horsepower engines that step up performance, increased head, leg and elbow room; larger windows, and comfortable sofa-width seats measuring a full 51 inches across the cushions.

Floating Ride Winner
However, one of the biggest 1940 De Soto features cannot be seen. It is the improved floating ride which results from a number of chassis changes and is said to set a new high standard for automobile riding comfort. This is an item which obviously must be personally experienced and arrangements can be made at the Harris garage for a road test of this feature.

INSULATION OF HOME IS URGED

Easy Method To Cut Fuel Cost Is Provided By Lumber Firm

Before furnaces and boilers in the Salem district are put to the real winter job of heating many property owners will take measures to insulate their homes and produce a reduction in heating costs.

Fiber insulation materials have been found by a large group of property owners at the Damascus Lumber company yards at Damascus. Planning experts there have indicated what type of material would do the most good under certain conditions.

Some insulation was advised while new siding was placed on buildings, while a new roof was being built or while an attic or basement was being finished into attractive, livable rooms. Outstanding insulation materials can be had at the Damascus Lumber company yards.

Pays For Itself
Even so, this money spent is not an expense, but a self-liquidating investment. Insulation will pay for itself in fuel savings, according to actual tests. In addition to fuel savings up to 50 per cent, there is year-around comfort that costs one nothing.

Fire hazards are greatly reduced by use of this mineral substance. Those who have used it in attics alone tell how they don't have to start their heating plants so early in the fall or keep them going so long in the spring. Summer heat rays are deflected from walls insulated. In winter, warm air from furnace or radiator is kept inside.

Telephone or visit the Damascus Lumber company right away to learn more about insulating values and economies.

Lee Butler, manager of the Butler Service Center on W. State st., says, "If May West was the boss of the business she would not have to advertise, for according to all reports she has the sort of 'come hither' personality that says louder than words, 'Come up and see me sometime'."

"It's not so easy to put S. A. into a service set-up, but we're trying to just the same. Only our S. A. stands for Sales, Service, Satisfaction, Appeal."

"Our curves may not be voluptuous—but are smiles are sincere, our eagerness to service your car is genuine and our service is expert enough to let you know we can keep you satisfied—when you come in."

"Here we are all dressed up ready for you—but it does neither of us any good till you 'come up and see us sometime'."

"Won't you do that? No obligation. Just look around and get acquainted. We won't 'high pressure' you to buy. Of course, we may suggest some service you really ought to have—if we see something about your car or your tires that needs attention."

"We're local representatives for Kelly-Springfield tires and when you need new ones, we'd like to show you why it pays to Armor-uber Your Wheels."

"We can save you money on tires—and see that you 'get a longer run for your money'."

"Our handy budget plan will suit your convenience if you want to pay as you ride."

MASTER MIX IS FINE HOG FOOD

It's One Sure Way to Produce Larger Profits For Raisers

Bigger profits are the chief interest of all hog raisers but there are only two ways in which these can be attained according to the management of the Salona Supply Co. on W. Pershing st.

First, the feeder can sell his hogs at higher prices by catching the peak of the market. Secondly, he can reduce his feeding costs. Master Mix 40 per cent hog concentrate and Master Mix 18 per cent pig and hog feed have been developed to aid the feeder in both respects.

Agricultural experiment station figures show that growing hogs which are fed nothing but corn require approximately 12 bushels of corn to increase the live weight 100 pounds.

Tests with Master Mix 40 per cent hog concentrate indicate that only 6 bushels of corn are required to accomplish the same 100 pounds gain in weight when 35 to 40 pounds of Master Mix 40 per cent hog concentrate are fed with the corn. The saving in corn is at once apparent.

Planned Results

Thinking ahead and planning carefully is the surest road to profit. Master Mix 18 per cent pig and hog feed and Master Mix 40 per cent hog concentrate are made to help the thoughtful feeder. These feeds were made only after scientific tests backed by years of experience and are designed to help the discriminating feeder boost his profits and keep feeding costs to a minimum.

Master Mix 40 per cent hog concentrate is economical in two ways. It reduces corn consumption and helps the feeder raise choice pork in the shortest practicable space of time so he can reach the peak markets in the early spring and fall to reap well-deserved profits. Consistent use of Master Mix 40 per cent hog concentrate is an investment insuring big dividends. Plan to use it. The management of the Salona Supply Co. on W. Pershing st. will give you feeding schedules that have been proven to get results.

DRIVING MADE SAFER BY NASH

Large, High-Powered Car Campaigns In Low-Price Field

Believing that a new era of highway adventure is about to get under way in America, Nash engineers packed the new 1940 Nashes with a score of adventure features that are said to make driving more fun, more comfortable and safer than ever before.

The automobile, already perfected as a transportation unit, has been developed this year beyond the purely functional stage and has become not only an important utility but a means to broader horizons for thousands of Americans, in the opinion of F. M. Woodworth of the Buckeye Motor Sales, 451 E. Pershing st.

The new 1940 Nash line of cars, possessing a smooth new "airliner" beauty, consists of 18 models in three series that cover a wide price range, beginning among the lowest in the industry, Woodworth said.

Nash, which broke many sales records during the 1939 model year when public acceptance for its cars increased rapidly, will make a drive in the low-priced market this model year with an extra large and high powered car, he made known. Nash's low-priced automobile, the DeLuxe LaFayette, has 117-inch wheelbase, a 99-horsepower motor, and offers a number of driving and construction features generally found only on much higher priced cars, he said.

Steering Easier, Surer

Another development contributing to the "Arrow Flight Ride" is a new steering arrangement which is said to make steering easier and surer, and to hold the car to its course even on the roughest of roads. The steering gear also makes possible shorter turning radius. The cars can be turned completely in an average city street. This is also a parking advantage, as the cars can be maneuvered easily into close-quarter parking spots.

"There is another driving thrill in store for motorists," Woodworth said, "in the Nash 'Overtake'—an advancement of the automatic fourth speed forward. To use it, the driver presses the throttle to the floor and the pull power and pull of the engine in conventional third gear is at his command for passing cars and for getting out of tight spots. The return to the automatic fourth speed forward is made by lifting the foot from the accelerator for a split second."

This year the driving public actually will see the famous Nash "Weather Eye," the mysterious weather watcher which automatically prevents changes in outside weather from affecting inside car comfort.

PUBLIC LAUDS NEW DE SOTO '40

Features Formerly Extra Are Now Standard Equipment

With Detroit delivered prices reduced as much as $40 despite increased size, roominess, horsepower and wheelbase, De Soto's completely re-styled 1940 models will put in a strong bid for attention of automobile show crowds this week.

Extra Equipment
The new lower prices start at $245 for the deluxe coupe and range to $1,290 for the 7-passenger custom limousine, and these lower prices include many equipment items now furnished as standard, for which extra charge was previously made.

For instance, all De Sotos this year will include as standard equipment an 18-inch steering wheel with horn ring, dual sun visors, dual windshield wipers, dual tail lamps, assist straps, robe cord, chrome belt moulding, gravel deflector between rear bumper and bumper guards, spare tire tube and wheel and sheet metal painted to match body color.

Visitors to the Harris garage, local dealer, will see evidence of a 12-million dollar beauty treatment for that is what Chrysler corporation reports having spent for new tools and dies for its 1940 models. They will also see 12 1/2-inch wheelbases under a lower, sturdier frame; 160 horse-power engines that step up performance; increased head, leg and elbow room; larger windows, and comfortable sofa-width seats measuring a full 51 inches across the cushions.

Floating Ride Winner
However, one of the biggest 1940 De Soto features cannot be seen. It is the improved floating ride which results from a number of chassis changes, and is said to set a new high standard for automobile riding comfort. This is an item which obviously must be personally experienced and arrangements can be made at the Harris garage for a road test of this feature.

INSULATION OF HOME IS URGED

Easy Method To Cut Fuel Cost Is Provided By Lumber Firm

Before furnaces and boilers in the Salem district are put to the real winter job of heating many property owners will take measures to insulate their homes and produce a reduction in heating costs.

Fiber insulation materials have been found by a large group of property owners at the Damascus Lumber company yards at Damascus. Planning experts there have indicated what type of material would do the most good under certain conditions. Some insulation was advised while new siding was placed on buildings, while a new roof was being built or while an attic or basement was being finished into attractive, livable rooms. Outstanding insulation materials can be had at the Damascus Lumber company yards.

Pays For Itself
Even so, this money spent is not an expense, but a self-liquidating investment. Insulation will pay for itself in fuel savings, according to actual tests. In addition to fuel savings up to 50 per cent, there is year-around comfort that costs one nothing. Fire hazards are greatly reduced by use of this mineral substance. Those who have used it in attics alone tell how they don't have to start their heating plants so early in the fall or keep them going so long in the spring. Summer heat rays are deflected from walls insulated. In winter, warm air from furnace or radiator is kept inside. Telephone or visit the Damascus Lumber company right away to learn more about insulating values and economies.

PUTS "S. A." INTO TIRE BUSINESS

Lee Butler Stresses Service and Satisfaction Appeal

Lee Butler, manager of the Butler Service Center on W. State st., says, "If May West was the boss of the business she would not have to advertise, for according to all reports, she has the sort of 'come either' personality that says louder than words, 'Come up and see me sometime.'"

"It's not so easy to put S. A. into a service set-up, but we're trying to just the same. Only our S. A. stands for Sales, Service, Satisfaction, Appeal."

"Our curves may not be voluptuous—but are smiles are sincere, our eagerness to service your car is genuine and our service is expert enough so we know we can keep you satisfied—when you come in."

"Here we are all dressed up ready for you—but it goes neither of us any good till you 'come up and see us sometime.'"

"Won't you do that? No obligation. Just look around and get acquainted. We won't 'high pressure' you to buy. Of course, we may suggest some service you really ought to have—if we see something about your car or your tires that needs attention."

"We're local representatives for Kelly-Springfield tires and when you need new ones, we'd like to show you why it pays to Armorbuster Your Wheels."

"We can save you money on tires—and see that you 'get a longer run for your money.'"

"Our handy budget plan will suit your convenience if you want to pay as you ride."

MASTER MIX IS FINE HOG FOOD

It's One Sure Way to Produce Larger Profits For Raisers

Bigger profits are the chief interest of all hog raisers but there are only two ways in which these can be attained according to the management of the Salona Supply Co. on W. Pershing st.

First, the feeder can sell his hogs at higher prices by catching the peak of the market. Secondly, he can reduce his feeding costs. Master Mix 40 per cent hog concentrate and Master Mix 18 per cent pig and hog feed have been developed to aid the feeder in both respects.

Agricultural experiment station figures show that growing hogs which are fed nothing but corn require approximately 12 bushels of corn to increase the live weight 100 pounds.

Tests with Master Mix 40 per cent hog concentrate indicate that only 6 bushels of corn are required to accomplish the same 100 pounds gain in weight when 35 to 40 pounds of Master Mix 40 per cent hog concentrate are fed with the corn. The saving in corn is at once apparent.

Planned Results

Thinking ahead and planning carefully is the surest road to profit. Master Mix 18 per cent pig and hog feed and Master Mix 40 per cent hog concentrate are made to help the thoughtful feeder. These feeds were made only after scientific tests backed by years of experience and are designed to help the discriminating feeder boost his profits and keep feeding costs to a minimum.

Master Mix 40 per cent hog concentrate is economical in two ways. It reduces corn consumption and helps the feeder raise choice pork in the shortest practicable space of time so he can reach the peak markets in the early spring and fall to reap well deserved profits. Consistent use of Master Mix 40 per cent hog concentrate is an investment insuring big dividends. Plan to use it. The management of the Salona Supply Co. on W. Pershing st. will give you feeding schedules that have been proven to get results.

Cornell And Duquesne Among Eastern Gridiron Leaders

FEW LEADERS STAND OUT IN EACH SECTION

Weak Teams Weeded Out Of National Grid Picture

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Heading into the last October weekend, traditionally the middle of the football season, major teams escaping the plague of upsets finally have begun to line up in something like orderly manner.

Weaker teams have been weeded out so that each section has a single leader, or a small group of title contenders.

They line up something like this: Undeclared and untied: East—Duquesne, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Catholic University; south—Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi; mid-west—Notre Dame, Michigan, Ohio State; southwest—Texas A. and M.; Rocky mountains—Colorado Mines; Pacific coast—Oregon State.

Undeclared but tied: East—Dartmouth, Georgetown, Rutgers; south—Tulane, North Carolina, Richmond; mid-west—Nebraska, Oklahoma; Rocky mountains—Utah; Pacific coast—Southern California, U. C. L. A., Santa Clara (tied twice).

Winner In List

Chances are the winner of this year's mythical national title, as well as most of the conference championships, is included in the list.

Here are the prospects for the immediate future:

East: Elimination of Pittsburgh's Panthers by a scrappy Duquesne team, 21-13, left the race wide open. The Ducks automatically became the No. 1 team but may join the also-rans Friday night when they face Texas Tech.

Cornell, triumphant over Penn State, 47-0, and Penn, 22-7, victor over Harvard, stand out in the "Ivy league." Cornell plays Ohio State, Big Ten co-leader, at Columbus, while Penn takes on North Carolina, Southern conference pace setter which tied Tulane, 14-14. Dartmouth, after whipping Lafayette, 14-0, meets Harvard.

New York University, which stopped Carnegie Tech 6 to 2, should take Georgia handily. Carnegie meets mighty Notre Dame in its first comeback effort. Pitt-Fordham, Colgate-Holy Cross and Arkansas-Villanova are other standout games.

South: Tennessee, last year's Southern conference champ, lived up to early ballyhoo with a 21-0 triumph over Alabama and shares the conference lead with Kentucky, 13-6 winner over Georgia. They play Mercer and Xavier of Cincinnati, respectively, Saturday. Mississippi and Tulane collide at New Orleans. Georgia Tech, which beat Vanderbilt, 14-0, plays Auburn, 7-0 upset victim of Manhattan. Alabama takes on Mississippi State.

Navy Plays Clemson

While North Carolina visits Penn, and Clemson in second place after Tennessee's 27-0 win over South Carolina, plays Navy, Duke's Blue Devils oppose Wake Forest. Duke trimmed Syracuse, 33-6.

Midwest: Ohio State faces Cornell, and Michigan, which routed Chicago, 85-0, takes on Yale, sensational winner over Army, leaving the Big Ten battles to the less important teams: Illinois vs. Northwestern and Iowa vs. Wisconsin. Notre Dame, victor over Navy 14-7, plays Carnegie.

Nebraska, 20-9 winner over previously unbeaten Baylor, faces Kansas State, Oklahoma, 27-7 winner over Kansas, meets Oklahoma A. and M.

Southwest: The Texas Aggies continued undefeated as they whipped Texas Christian, 20-6, but face Baylor Saturday. Texas sophomores, who conquered Arkansas, 14-13, encounter Rice, which lost, 9-8, to Sam Houston Teachers.

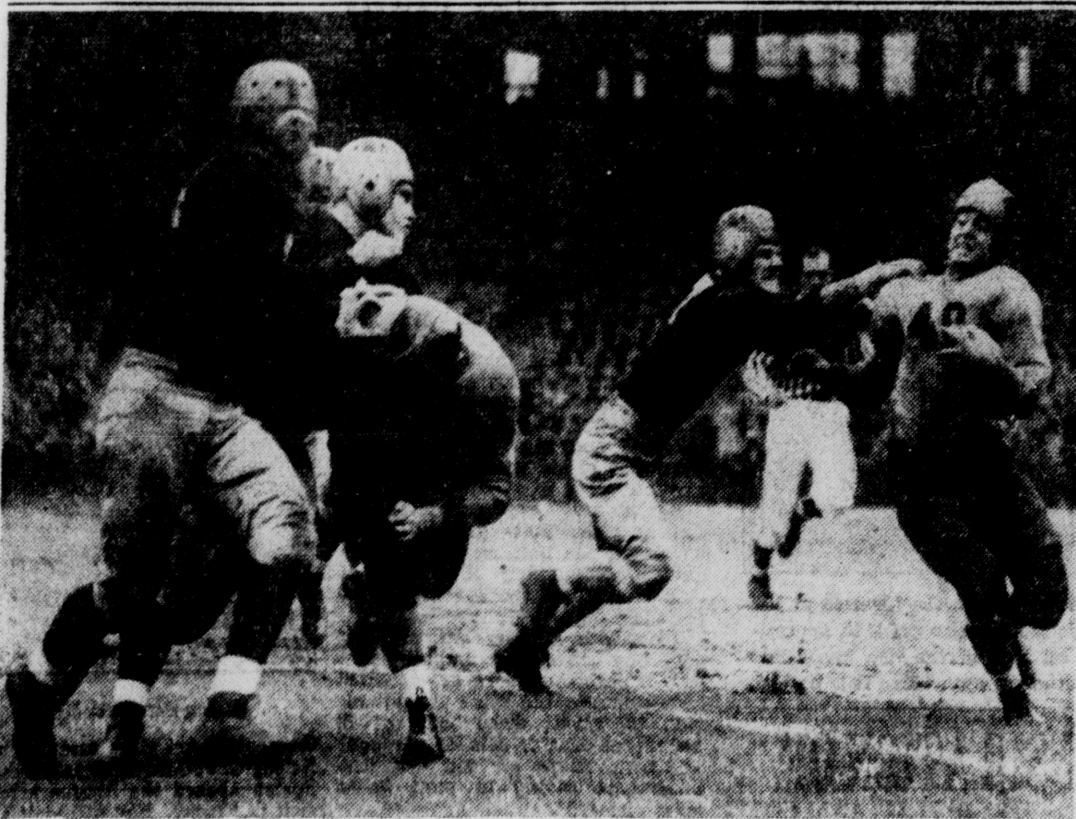

Pacific: When Gonzaga upset Oregon, 12-7, Saturday, that left only Oregon State undefeated and untied in the coast conference. It wasn't a league game, so the Webfoots remained on top, while Oregon State moved alongside by beating Washington, 13-7.

Southern California, still the favorite, comes back after a week off to play California, which turned back Washington State, 13-7, for its first major victory of the season. Oregon faces U. C. L. A., and Oregon State plays Washington State. Washington meets Stanford and Santa Clara meets Purdue.

OPPORTUNITIES

Opportunities to buy to advantage are found daily in The News classified adv. columns.

No Gain For Navy As Notre Dame Wins 14-7

Gebert, of Navy, finds himself in the clutches of a Notre Dame tackler immediately after receiving the ball and is dropped in his tracks for no gain. The efficient blocking of his teammate (left) proves no help to the hapless ball carrier. With a record crowd of more than 81,000 looking on in Cleveland's Municipal stadium, the Fighting Irish maintained their place in the ranks of the undefeated, beating the Midshipmen 14 to 7.

MICHIGAN, OHIO FAVORITES FOR BIG TEN TITLE

Leaders Forsake League Competition For Intersectional Play

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Michigan and Ohio State, leaving four sadder but wiser Big Ten teams behind them, forsake conference title competition this week for important intersectional clashes.

Now twin favorites for the grid title, Michigan and Ohio State take on Yale and Cornell, respectively, at Ann Arbor and Columbus. The Wolverines have been a red-hot choice all along and the Buckeyes moved up with them Saturday when they outlasted Minnesota's defending champions, 23 to 20. The winning margin came on Charles Maag's field goal. Meanwhile Michigan was running signals on the hapless Chicago Maroons, the final score being 85 to 0.

From here on out Michigan plays Illinois, Minnesota and Ohio State in the conference and the Bucks play Indiana, Chicago and Illinois before taking on the Wolverines. Both should come together Nov. 25 at Ann Arbor with the Big Ten title in the balance.

Northwestern finally got under way Saturday with a 13 to 7 victory over Wisconsin. Hal Moursh's passing and a placement conversion for the point after touchdown gave Indiana a 7 to 6 victory over Bob Zupke's stubborn Illinois team, which previously had never bowed to the Hoosiers at Champaign.

Purdue defeated Michigan State, 20 to 7, Iowa was title preparing for its game with Wisconsin next Saturday. Illinois plays at Northwestern and Purdue at Santa Clara. Minnesota, Indiana and Chicago have open dates.

Tom Harmon, Michigan's fine halfback, moved far ahead of any would be challengers to his individual scoring leadership getting 18 points against Chicago on two touchdowns, a field goal and three placements for points after.

MINERVA TRIPS PALESTINE 12-0

Intercepts Five Bulldog Passes to Pave Way To Victory

EAST PALESTINE, Oct. 23.—Tightening its grip on the top rung of the Tri-County loop by gaining a third decision, Minerva High stopped East Palestine's undefeated team, 12-0, here Saturday.

Except for the second and fourth periods when Minerva scored, the game was largely a kicking duel between Sponseller of Minerva and Frankland of East Palestine.

As the first period ended, Minerva drove to the Bulldogs' 15-yard line. Telles, Scarlet Raider sub, passed to Miner for a touchdown on the third play of the second quarter.

COLUMBIANA IS VICTORIOUS 21-7

Remains Undefeated In Tri-County Loop By Taking Louisville

COLUMBIANA, Oct. 23.—Scoring in each of the last three quarters of the game, Columbiana upset the dope bucket ash they walloped Louisville, defending champion of the Tri-County league, 21-7, here last Saturday.

Deadlocked 7-7 at the half, Columbiana netted two touchdowns in the closing quarters to achieve the triumph. Louisville counted its marker early in the second frame when Halfback Snyder smashed through on his own 35, ended the Columbiana secondary and raced 65 yards to the goal line. Harbaugh placekicked the extra point.

Later in the period Columbiana stopped a Louisville drive on the Columbiana 35 and after a series of passes, Dewalt to Burke, drove to the Louisville 10. A five-yard penalty and Dewalt's plunge netted the touchdown and Dewalt cracked the line for the extra point that tied the score.

In the third quarter Dewalt took the ball on his own 30, tossed it to Clicker, who lateraled to Zellers. The latter raced over for Columbiana's second touchdown. Dewalt passed to Burke for the extra point.

Sponseller intercepted a Louisville pass on the Louisville 30 in the closing quarter and Columbiana went to the five on a series of line plays. Dewalt scored from there and added the extra point on a line smash.

In the fourth period Sponseller ran 25 yards to the East Palestine 22. Wassman, Sponseller, and Telles plunged to the two where Sponseller scored. Telles' extra point attempt failed.

East Palestine never threatened although Frankland's fine work kept the Bulldogs in the thick of the battle.

Minerva had a 9-5 edge in first downs, completed four out of seven passes. East Palestine made only one out of seven and had five intercepted.

NATURALS ARE PLENTIFUL ON GRID PROGRAM

Intersectional Battle Between Ohio State, Cornell Tops

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Oct. 23.—Football "naturals" are plentiful in the 23-game slate facing Ohio's collegiate squad next weekend.

Both the Ohio conference and statewide standings appear ready for another jumbling like that of last week when the three leaders, Toledo, Ohio Wesleyan and Denison were torn from the peak.

Eleven of the 23 games are with out-of-state opposition, with the intersectional struggle between two unbeaten titans, Ohio State and Cornell, headlining the program.

In 68 previous games with foreign foes, Ohio squads won, 35, lost 16 and tied one.

Back of the Cornell-Ohio State classic, the top games send Ohio Northern against Capital, Case against John Carroll, and Wooster against Muskingum—all Ohio conference scraps.

Leads League

Muskingum is cut front in the league with four straight wins, but must beat Wooster to stay there, and the Scots hit the comeback trail Saturday by swarming over Mount Union 29 to 0.

The weekend's schedule: Friday, Ohio Northern at Capital, Denison at Marietta, Bluffton at Defiance, Cincinnati at Western Reserve, and Kent State at Hobart.

Saturday: Cornell at Ohio State, Mount Union at Heidelberg, Case at John Carroll, Bowling Green at Wittenberg, Wooster at Muskingum, Citterben at Ashland, Findlay at Assumption (Windsor, Ont.), Dayton at Ohio University, Western State Teachers (Mich.) at Toledo.

Monday: Evansville (Ind.) at De Sales.

Another Grange?

Michigan's backfield star, Tom Harmon, is going places this year and in this picture, too. Harmon capped his early season performance by scoring all 27 points Michigan made against Iowa.

Ralph Kercheval kicked Brooklyn to a 23 to 14 victory over Philadelphia. Parker Hall paced Cleveland, sinking the losers deeper into the western division cellar.

In the American league, the Columbus Bulls increased their leadership with a 27 to 0 victory over the Cincinnati Bengals. Second place Los Angeles, meanwhile, knocked off the St. Louis Gunners, 24 to 0. The Gunners were the only club to whip Columbus' person.

Cornell And Duquesne Among Eastern Gridiron Leaders

FEW LEADERS STAND OUT IN EACH SECTION

Weak Teams Weeded Out Of National Grid Picture

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Heading into the last October weekend, traditionally the middle of the football season, major teams escaping the plague of upsets finally have begun to line up in something like orderly manner.

Weaker teams have been weeded out so that each section has a single leader, or a small group of title contenders.

They line up something like this: Undeclared and untied: East—Duquesne, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Catholic university; south—Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi; midwest—Notre Dame, Michigan, Ohio State; southwest—Texas A. and M.; Rocky mountains—Colorado Mines; Pacific coast—Oregon State.

Undeclared but tied: East—Dartmouth, Georgetown, Rutgers; south—Tulane, North Carolina, Richmond; midwest—Nebraska, Oklahoma; Rocky mountains—Utah; Pacific coast—Southern California, U. C. L. A., Santa Clara (tied twice).

Winner In List

Chances are the winner of this year's mythical national title, as well as most of the conference championships, is included in the list.

Here are the prospects for the immediate future:

East: Elimination of Pittsburgh's Panthers by a scrappy Duquesne team, 21-13, left the race wide open. The Duquesne automatically became the No. 1 team but may join the also-rans Friday night when they face Texas Tech.

Cornell, triumphant over Penn State, 47-0, and Penn, 22-7, victor over Harvard, stand out in the "Ivy league." Cornell plays Ohio State, Big Ten co-leader, at Columbus, while Penn takes on North Carolina, Southern conference pace setter which tied Tulane, 14-14. Dartmouth, after whipping Lafayette, 14-0, meets Harvard.

New York university, which stopped Carnegie Tech 6 to 2, should take Georgia handily. Carnegie meets mighty Notre Dame in its first comeback effort. Pitt-Purdue, Colgate-Holy Cross and Arkansas-Villanova are other standout games.

South: Tennessee, last year's Southern conference champ, lived up to early ballyhoo with a 21-0 triumph over Alabama and shares the conference lead with Kentucky, 13-6 winner over Georgia. They play Mercer and Xavier of Cincinnati, respectively, Saturday. Mississippi and Tulane collide at New Orleans. Georgia Tech, which beat Vanderbilt, 14-6, plays Auburn, 7-0 upset victim of Manhattan. Alabama takes on Mississippi State.

Navy Plays Clemson
While North Carolina visits Penn, and Clemson in second place after Thursday's 27-0 win over South Carolina, plays Navy, Duke's Blue Devils oppose Wake Forest. Duke trimmed Syracuse, 33-6.

Midwest: Ohio State faces Cornell, and Michigan, which routed Chicago, 35-0, takes on Yale, sensational winner over Army, leaving the Big Ten battles to the less important teams: Illinois vs. Northwestern and Iowa vs. Wisconsin. Notre Dame, victor over Navy 14-7, plays Carnegie.

Nebraska 20-0 winner over previously unbeaten Baylor, faces Kansas State, Oklahoma, 27-7 winner over Kansas, meets Oklahoma A. and M.

Southwest: The Texas Aggies continued undefeated as they whipped Texas Christian, 20-6, but face Baylor Saturday. Texas sophomores, who conquered Arkansas, 14-13, encounter Rice, which lost, 9-8, to Sam Houston Teachers.

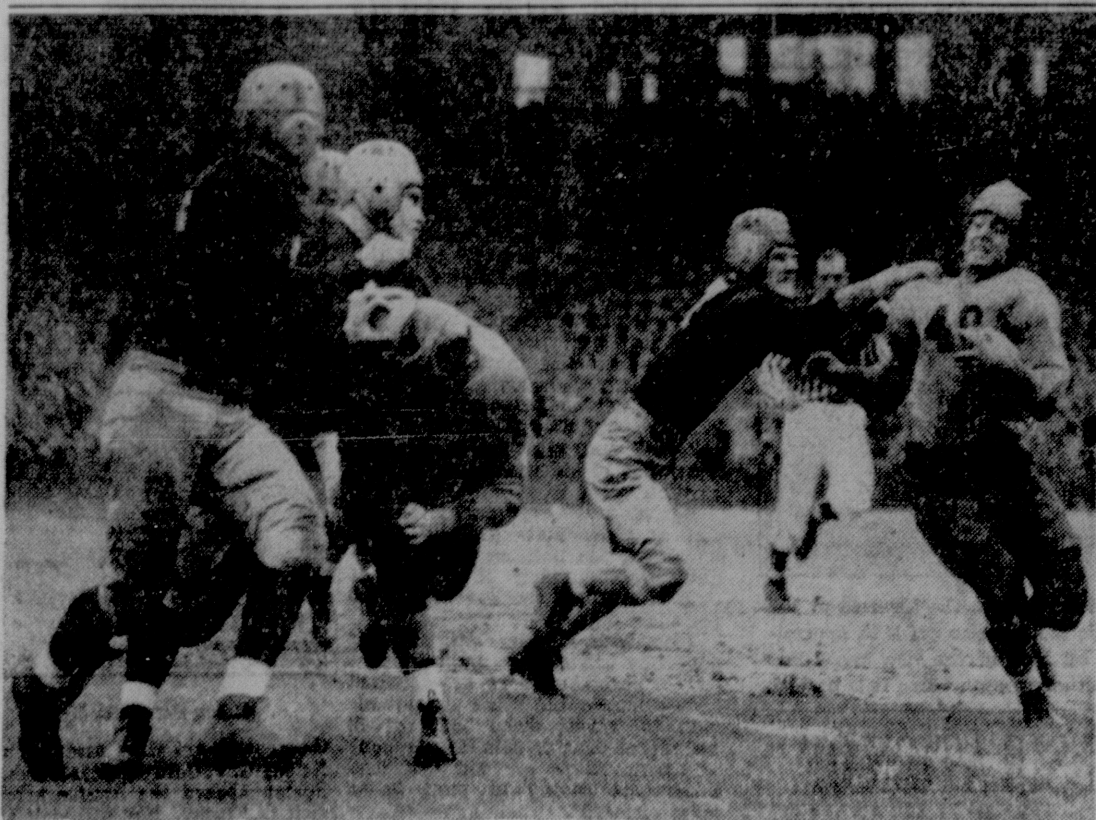

Pacific: When Gonzaga upset Oregon, 12-7, Saturday, that left only Oregon State undefeated and untied in the Coast conference, it wasn't a league game, so the Webfoots remained on top, while Oregon State moved alongside by beating Washington 13-7.

Southern California, still the favorite, comes back after a week off to play California, which turned back Washington State, 13-7, for its first major victory of the season. Oregon faces U. C. L. A. and Oregon State plays Washington State. Washington meets Stanford and Santa Clara meets Purdue.

OPPORTUNITIES

Opportunities to buy to advantage are found daily in The News classified adv. columns.

No Gain For Navy As Notre Dame Wins 14-7

Gebert, of Navy, finds himself in the clutches of a Notre Dame tackler immediately after receiving the ball and is dropped in his tracks for no gain. The efficient blocking of his teammate (left) proves no help to the hapless ball carrier. With a record crowd of more than 81,000 looking on in Cleveland's Municipal stadium, the Fighting Irish maintained their place in the ranks of the undefeated, beating the Midshipmen 14 to 7.

MICHIGAN, OHIO FAVORITES FOR BIG TEN TITLE

Leaders Forsake League Competition For Intersectional Play

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Michigan and Ohio State, leaving four sadder but wiser Big Ten teams behind them, forsake conference title competition this week for important intersectional clashes.

Now twin favorites for the grid title, Michigan and Ohio State take on Yale and Cornell, respectively, at Ann Arbor and Columbus. The Wolverines have been a red-hot choice all along and the Buckeyes moved up with them Saturday when they outlasted Minnesota's defending champions, 23 to 20. The winning margin came on Charles Maag's field goal. Meanwhile Michigan was running signals on the hapless Chicago Maroons, the final score being 35 to 0.

From here on out Michigan plays Illinois, Minnesota and Ohio State in the conference and the Bucks play Indiana, Chicago and Illinois before taking on the Wolverines. Both should come together Nov. 25 at Ann Arbor with the Big Ten title in the balance.

Northernwestern finally got under way Saturday with a 13 to 7 victory over Wisconsin. Hal Moursh's passing and a placement conversion for the point after touchdown gave Indiana a 7 to 6 victory over Bob Zupke's stubborn Illinois team, which previously had never bowed to the Hoosiers at Champaign.

Purdue defeated Michigan State, 20 to 7. Iowa was idle preparing for its game with Wisconsin next Saturday. Illinois plays at Northwestern and Purdue at Santa Clara. Minnesota, Indiana and Chicago have open dates.

Tom Harmon, Michigan's fine halfback, moved far ahead of any would be challengers to his individual scoring leadership, getting 18 points against Chicago on two touchdowns, a field goal and three placements for points after.

Ralph Hawley paced the Salem No. 1 team with a 517-series, made on games of 161, 159 and 197. Charles Fineran was the pace-setter for the No. 2 squad, hitting games of 177, 163 and 211 for a 551 total.

MINERVA TRIPS PALESTINE 12-0

Intercepts Five Bulldog Passes to Pave Way To Victory

EAST PALESTINE, Oct. 23.—Tightening its grip on the top rung of the Tri-County loop by gaining a third decision, Minerva High stopped East Palestine's undefeated team, 12-0, here Saturday.

Except for the second and fourth periods when Minerva scored, the game was largely a kicking duel between Sponseller of Minerva and Frankland of East Palestine.

As the first period ended, Minerva drove to the Bulldogs' 15-yard line. Telles, Scarlet Raider sub, passed to Miner for a touchdown on the third play of the second.

COLUMBIANA IS VICTORIOUS 21-7

Remains Undefeated In Tri-County Loop By Taking Louisville

COLUMBIANA, Oct. 23.—Scoring in each of the last three quarters of the game, Columbiana upset the dope bucket ash they wallowed Louisville, defending champion of the Tri-County league, 21-7 here last Saturday.

Deadlocked 7-7 at the half, Columbiana netted two touchdowns in the closing quarters to achieve the triumph.

Louisville counted its marker early in the second frame when Halfback Snyder smashed through on his own 35, evaded the Columbiana secondary and raced 65 yards to the goal line. Harbaugh place-kicked the extra point.

Later in the period Columbiana stopped a Louisville drive on the Columbiana 35 and after a series of passes, Dewalt to Burke, drove to the Louisville 10. A five-yard penalty and Dewalt's plunge netted the touchdown and Dewalt cracked the line for the extra point that tied the score.

In the third quarter Dewalt took the ball on his own 30, tossed it to Glekier, who lateraled to Zellars. The latter raced over for Columbiana's second touchdown. Dewalt passed to Burke for the extra point.

Sponseller intercepted a Louisville pass on the Louisville 30 in the closing quarter and Columbiana went to the five on a series of line plays. Dewalt scored from there and added the extra point on a line smash.

quarter Sponseller jumbled on the extra point. In the fourth period Sponseller ran 25 yards to the East Palestine 22. Wassaman, Sponseller, and Telles plunged to the two where Sponseller scored. Telles' extra point attempt failed.

East Palestine never threatened although Frankland's fine work kept the Bulldogs in the thick of the battle.

Minerva had a 9-5 edge in first downs, completed four out of seven passes; East Palestine made only one out of seven and had five intercepted.

NATURALS ARE PLENTIFUL ON GRID PROGRAM

Intersectional Battle Between Ohio State, Cornell Tops

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Oct. 23.—Football "naturals" are plentiful in the 23-game slate facing Ohio's collegiate squad next weekend.

Both the Ohio conference and statewide standings appear ready for another jumbling like that of last week when the three leaders, Toledo, Ohio Wesleyan and Denison were torn from the peak.

Eleven of the 23 games are with out-of-state opposition, with the intersectional struggle between two unbeaten titans, Ohio State and Cornell, headlining the program.

In 68 previous games, with foreign foes, Ohio squads won, 35, lost 50 and tied one.

Back of the Cornell-Ohio State classic, the top games send Ohio North against Capital, Case against John Carroll, and Wooster against Muskingum—all Ohio conference scraps.

Leads League

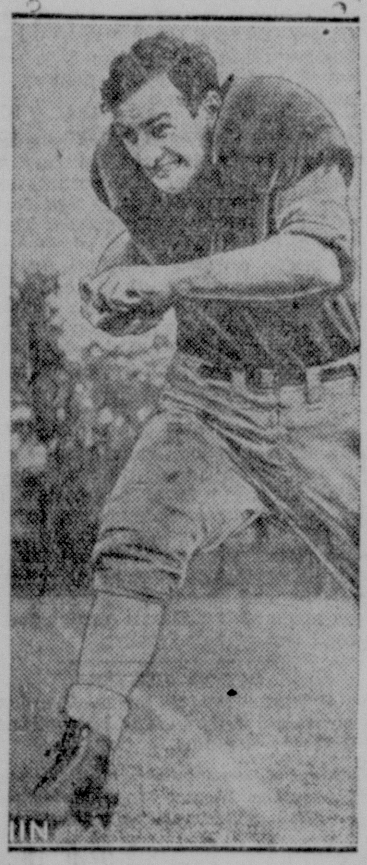

Muskingum is cut front in the league with four straight wins, but must beat Wooster to stay there and the Scots hit the comeback trail Saturday by swarming over Mount Union 20 to 0.

The weekend schedule:
Friday: Ohio Northern at Capital, Denison at Marietta, Bluffton at Defiance, Cincinnati at Western Reserve, and Kent State at Hobart.

Saturday: Cornell at Ohio State, Mount Union at Heidelberg, Case at John Carroll, Bowling Green at Wittenberg, Wooster at Muskingum, Otterbein at Ashland, Findlay at Assumption (Windsor, Ont.), Dayton at Ohio university, Western State Teachers (Mich.) at Toledo, Alfred Holbrook at Kenyon, Swarthmore at Oberlin, Ohio Wesleyan at Miami, Hiram at Allegheny, Tennessee State at Wilberforce, Wayne at Akron, Kentucky at Xavier, Rice Grande at Transylvania.

Monday: Evansville (Ind.) at De Sales.

Another Grange?

Tom Harmon

Michigan's backfield star, Tom Harmon, is going places this year and in this picture, too. Harmon capped his early season performance by scoring all 27 points Michigan made against Iowa.

Fielder's Choice

Joe DiMaggio, slugging star of the New York Yankees, gives his masculine opinion to a shopping question as he aids his fiancée, Dorothy Arnold (center) make a few purchases in Chicago, enroute to California, where they are to be married. Looks like Joe takes his shopping quite seriously.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Add Bill Conarator of the Texas Aggies to your All-American candidates.

They're putting on double features down in South Carolina. Two coaches staged a fist fight after a close game when the winner refused to shake with the loser.

Don't Believe It
Don't let them tell you there is no Santa Claus, Virginia.

President Robert Hutchins of U. of Chicago asked for 10-cent football and just look what he got. Wailing wall: Chicago should give Fritz Crisler a letter for not leaving Tom Harmon in there any longer. Looks like nobody can do anything about the Army team unless it's congress.

Tennessee, having made its annual trip to Iowa, returns to the suburbs to await the Rose Bowl call. Jess Hawley, ex-Dartmouth coach, guest experts in the Chicago Times: "It is a true Michigan team. Conference championship aspirants must know they face a real menace."

True Story
In the dark of the moon on the night of Friday the 13th, Wharton (Tex.) High beat Bay City.

Frank Guess, wearing No. 13, dropped a goal for the 13th and winning point. To make it unanimous, Bay City is known as the Black Cats.

The Chicago Bears call their freshman backfield—Bill Patterson, Bob McLeod, Bill Comaneki and Sid Luckman—the "Flying aces".

A new swimming pool at Jack Dempsey's Miami Beach hotel will be christened the "Tex Rickard memorial pool" and the sign over the entrance will read, "million dollar gate". Add MLeod of the Chicago Bears: He's the first Ivy leaguer ever to tote a football for dough.

Firemen Ask Ruling
EAST LIVERPOOL.—Fourteen firemen, who were furloughed three years ago owing to lack of municipal funds, called upon the civil service commission today to rule whether they will be rehired if a 1-mill tax levy to increase personnel is approved at the Nov. 7 election. The question of seniority will be determined by City Solicitor Carroll P. Lynch.
